MIAMI BEACH

Interior designer at ADC Atelier

The Shelborne by Proper is a restored luxury hotel and iconic landmark located in the heart of Miami Beach. As the lead interior designer at ADC Atelier, I managed all aspects of the design process, overseeing FF&E specifications, curating furniture, fixtures, and finishes to ensure they harmonized with the hotel's aesthetic and functional requirements. I also coordinated the artwork for the public spaces, collaborating directly with artists to specify pieces that aligned with the design concept and budget. From managing suppliers and materials to producing detailed renderings, conducting an extensive FF&E survey onsite, and leading creative discussions with clients, I ensured the project's seamless execution and delivered a cohesive, high-quality result.

THE ALBION HOTEL

MIAMI BEACH

DESIGN CONCEPT PRESENTATION
BY LEXI NAROWSKI

The Albion Hotel – South Beach, Miami

Built in the heart of Miami Beach's iconic Art Deco District, The Albion Hotel stands as a lasting emblem of the city's glamorous past and forward-thinking spirit. One of the earliest expressions of streamlined modernism in the area, the hotel drew inspiration from the grandeur and symmetry of early 20th-century ocean liners. Its signature curved corners, porthole details, and sweeping horizontal lines capture the essence of motion and modernity — embodying an era defined by design innovation, optimism, and the promise of a bold new America.

A Refreshed Vision that honours its iconic past while boldly embracing the present.

In this reimagining of The Albion Hotel, we've embraced its rich architectural language and infused it with a new narrative — a fresh take on nautical sophistication that stays true to its maritime soul honouring its nautical heritage while refining it through a contemporary Miami lens.

We distilled the essence of the ocean liner era into subtle, tactile cues: curved forms, sleek silhouettes, and polished finishes reminiscent of deck details and stateroom cabinetry. The nautical influence reveals itself in the fluid lines, considered craftsmanship, and timeless silhouettes — subtle gestures that evoke life at sea as quiet poetry.

The result is a serene yet vibrant space. This is Miami, South Beach: timeless, inviting, and deeply connected to its storied identity, yet unmistakably Albion.

Gramaci

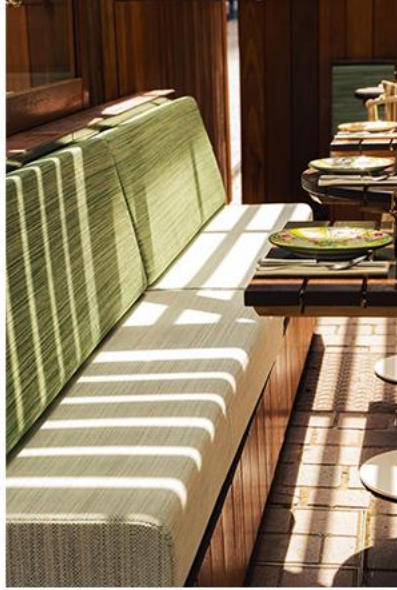

BAR • RESTAURANT

Interior designer at ADC Atelier

Gramaci, is a mediterranean themed restaurant located in La Défense, Paris, that I had the privilege to work on in the upcoming months before the 2024 Summer Olympic Games. To achieve our concept design, I focused on the careful selection of hard materials and finishes and ensured through onsite visits that our concept development and curated FF&E specifications met all budget requirements. Our hard work on this project resulted in a warm and inviting contemporary restaurant, offering diners and staff to be a part of a relaxing environment in the hustle of Paris' Business District.

LUXURY RESIDENTIAL

TOWNHOUSE | NEW YORK

Interior designer at ADC Atelier

I had the pleasure of working on luxury brownstone residential properties in New York, where I focused on providing clients with high-quality visuals to ensure each design reflected their unique preferences while maximizing functionality and aesthetic appeal. By delivering design concepts through detailed visualizations, the timeless charm of these historic properties, were delivered with modern, and tailored solutions that elevated each space.

*Nominated for ELISAVA Masters Awards **

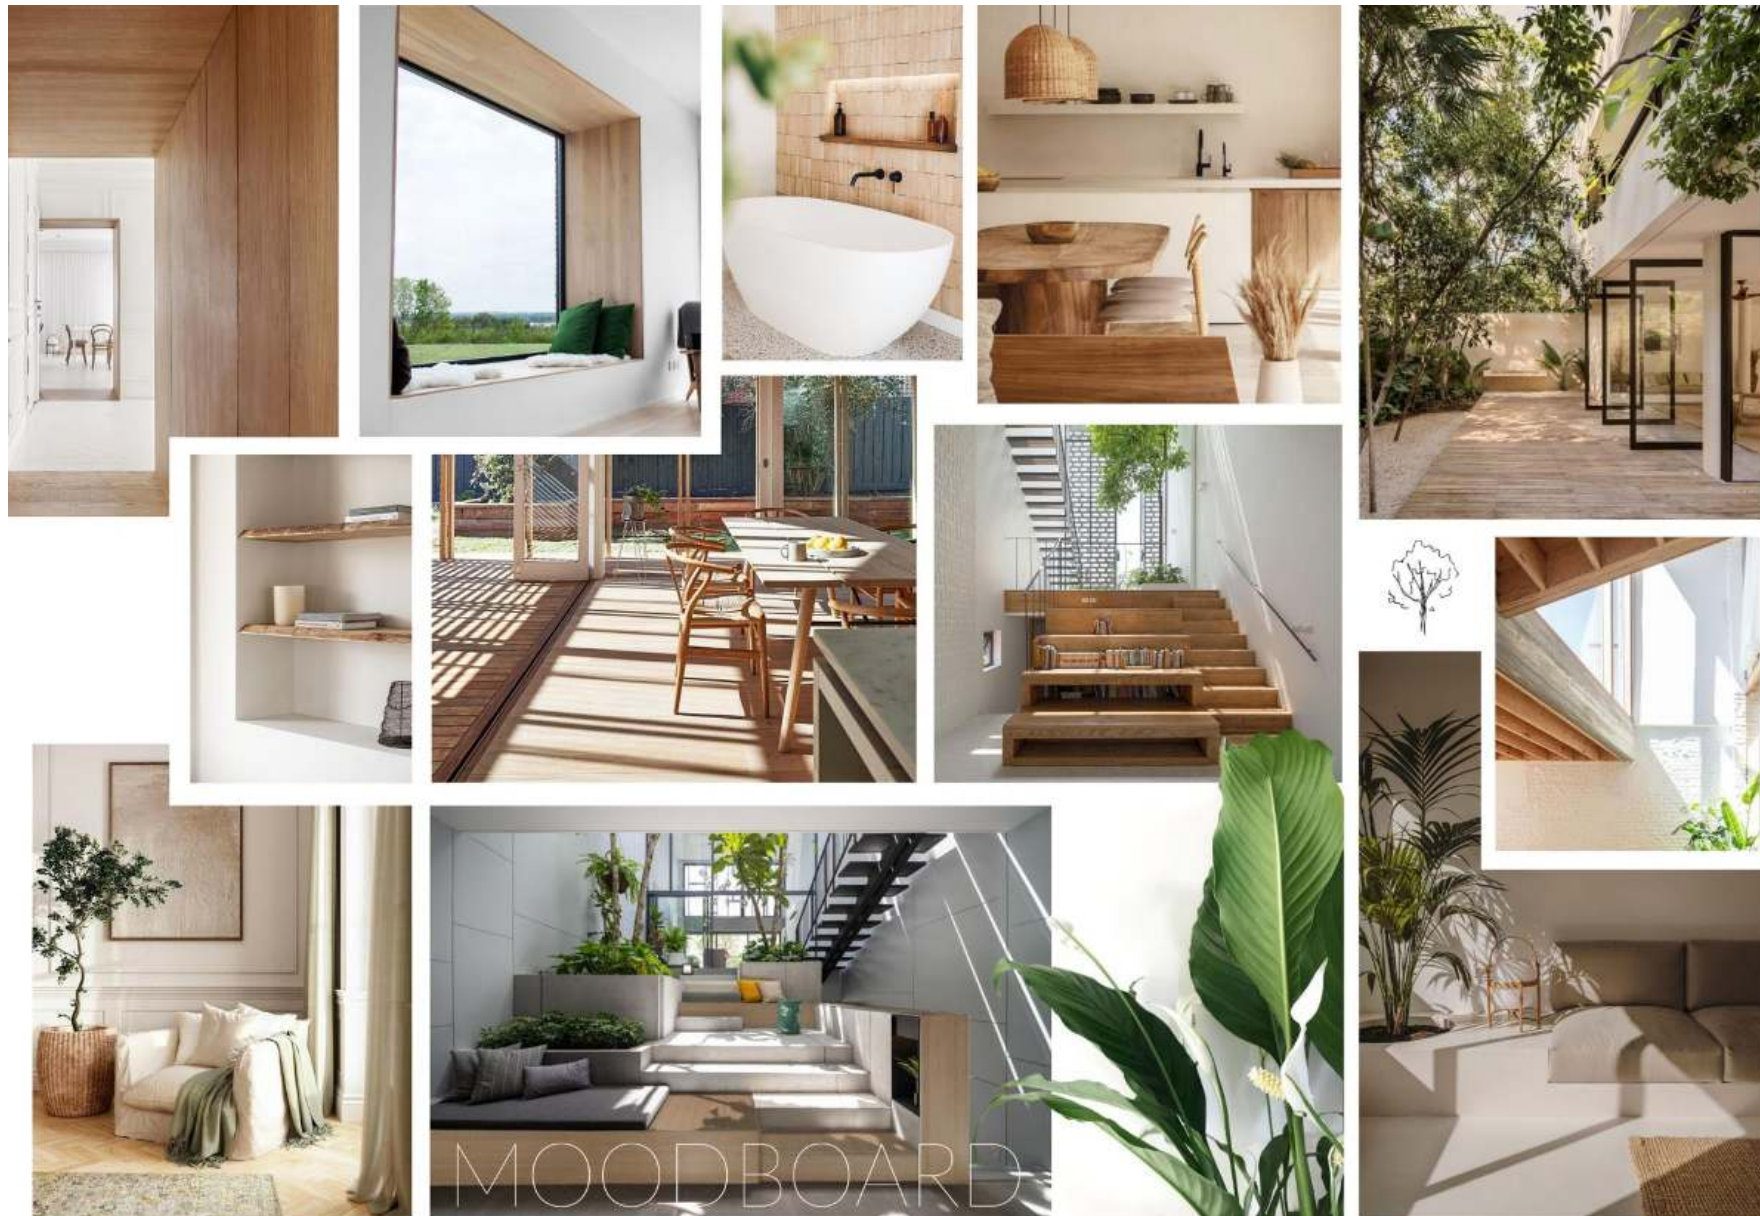

Inspired by the allure of a treehouse, the concept for this six-floor family townhouse nestled in the heart of Eixample, Barcelona, offers a refreshing perspective on urban living.

Centered around fostering connections amidst the bustling cityscape, the design celebrates the integration of the external surroundings, inviting moments of shared joy and tranquility among family members.

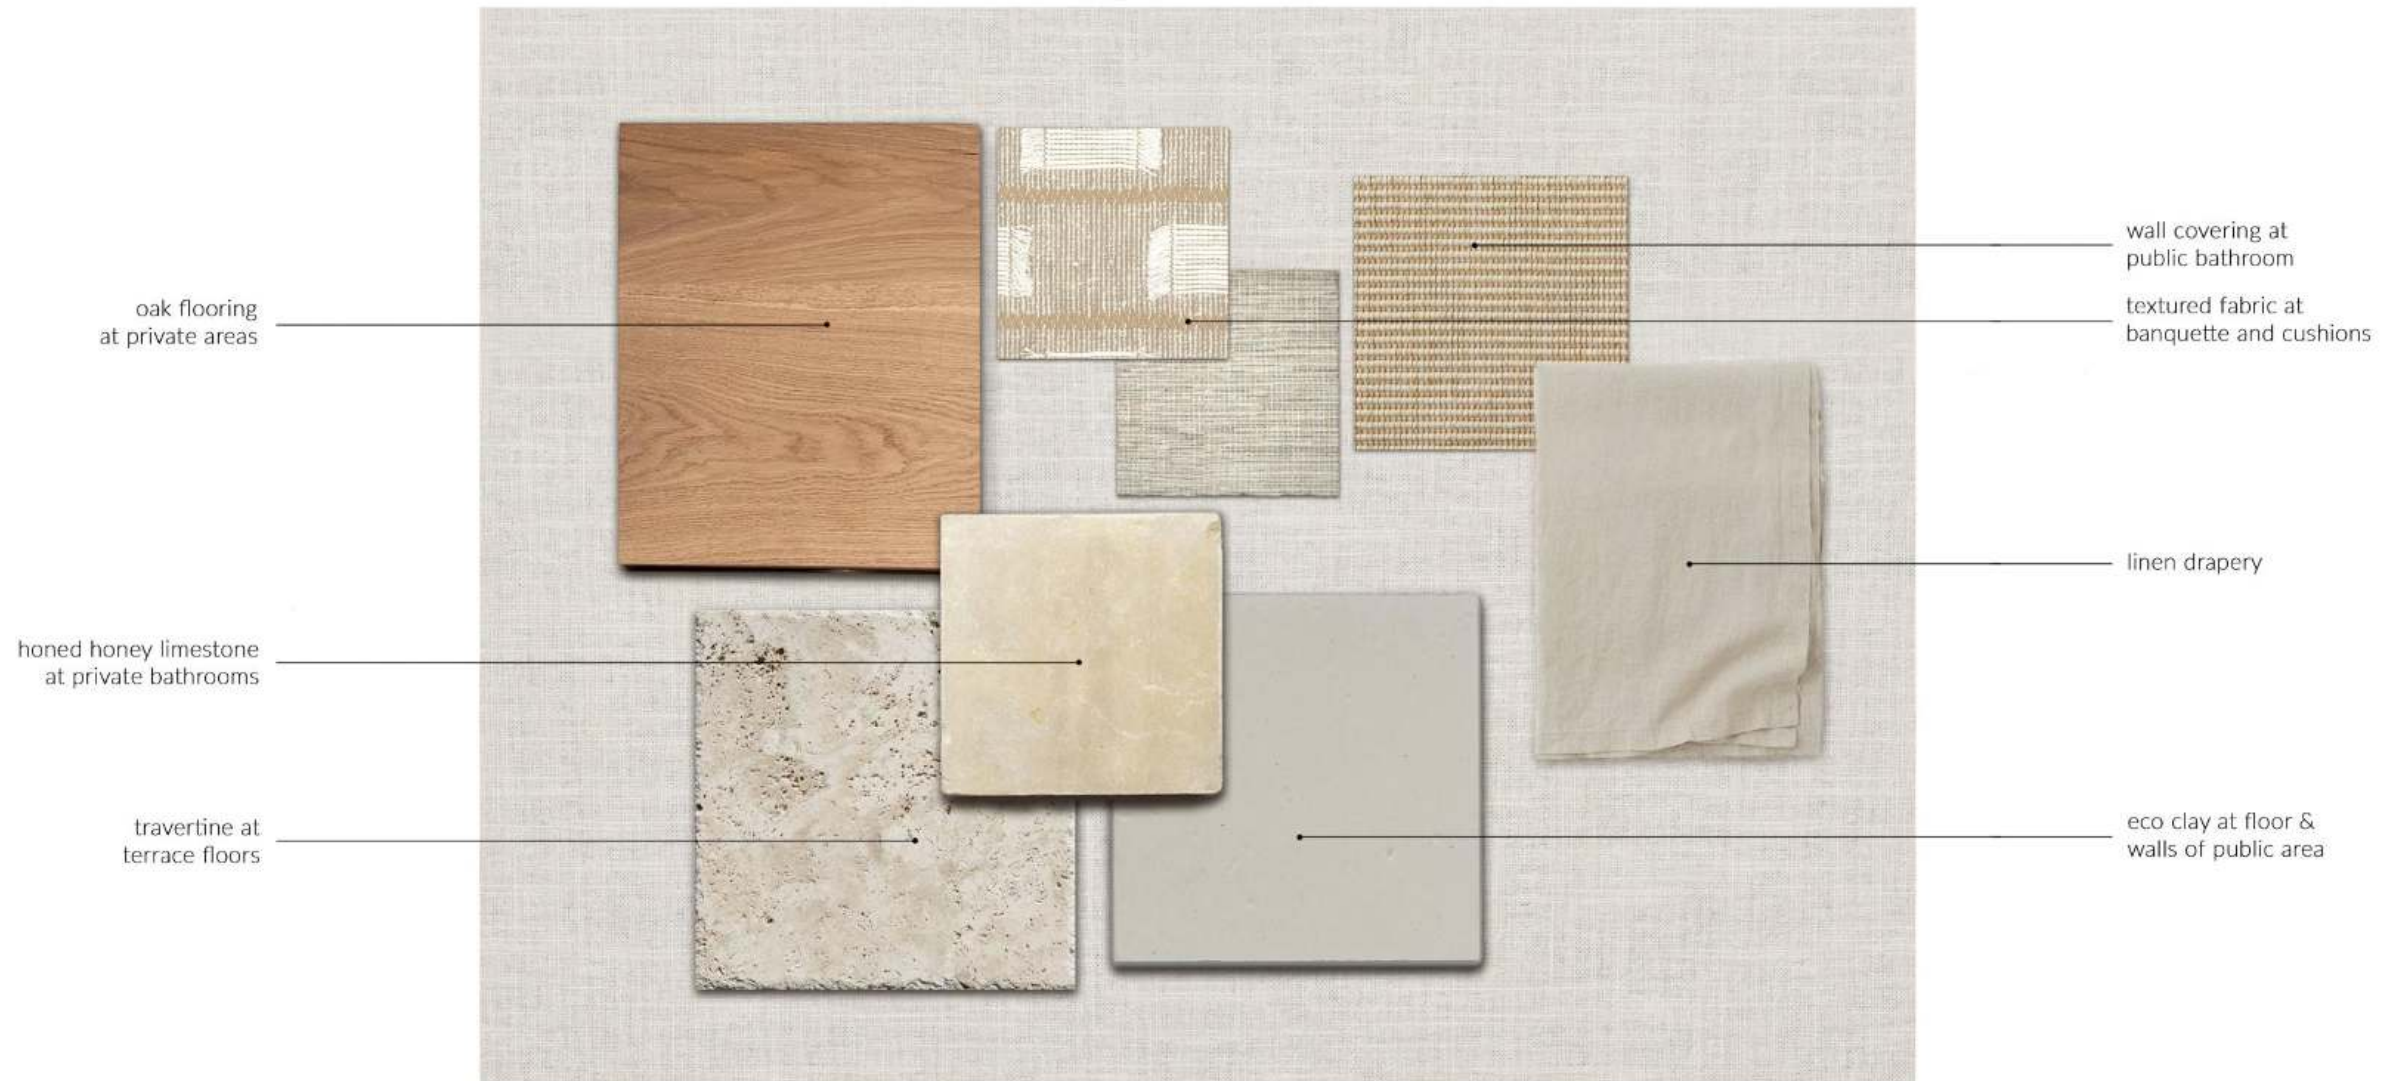

Through a thoughtful selection of natural materials and a seamless blend of indoor and outdoor elements, this concept transcends conventional boundaries, cultivating a harmonious sanctuary where residents can thrive amidst the vibrant energy of Barcelona.

exhale creativity

Respira, an interior design project for a coworking and living space located in Sant Pol de Mar.

This concept is inspired by the Benedictine way of living which emphasizes simplicity, balance, and a connection to nature. We want to bring a sense of peace and tranquillity into this project so that residents and visitors can fully immerse themselves in a calming atmosphere. This project will demonstrate how a minimalist design aesthetic provides a powerful and dramatic statement through accentuating the use of natural light and organic shapes.

ORGANIC SHAPES INSPIRED BY NATURE

verde canadiense .

The crisp air and natural surroundings of Vancouver is what inspired this vibe board. I miss the feeling of being sheltered among the 200-year-old Douglas-fir trees, while walking along the dampened, wide planked Capilano bridge. After being enclosed for so long from the pandemic, it feels necessary to bring vibrant and earthy tones into your home, making every space feel just as fresh as the great Canadian outdoors!

I'm not sure if it's been the warmer weather or those late summer night sunsets we all miss that inspired this vibe board. By combining warmer Moroccan terracotta reds with earthy greens and timeless furniture pieces, this style will maintain that warm summer feeling all year long.

*Pattern designs by AN. (see annex IV) *

This year I have been experimenting with pattern designs through creating a series of designs with water colour paint and pencil drawings.

The process consisted of first putting together a rough composition of the overall design with pencil. Once the composition was planned, I repeated the design on another piece of paper using watercolour paint as my medium of choice. If I wanted to make alterations to my original design, I would trace the original composition on a light table, allowing me the freedom to make any changes needed. Once I had a design I was happy with, I would scan the finished watercolour print, adjust or alter digitally when needed and create mock-ups with my designs on pillows, wall murals, and furniture. This practice allows me the opportunity to gain a more realistic insight to the planed print design before moving towards the physical production phases of the project.

Besides creating original print designs, I am currently testing samples of fabrics and am in the process of selecting the designs I wish to move forward with.

Renowned Interior designer Mathew Williamson most recognized for his pattern and print designs are a huge inspiration to me. His use of tropical bright colours and the methods used to capture the prints used on lighting, fabrics, home decor and wallpaper prove there are no limitations when it comes to adding colour into your home.

Architect and Furniture designer Arielle Assouline-Litchen is a Brooklyn based designer who has the unique ability to craft hard stone furniture such as marble and onyx and make them look soft, and elegant in any home space. Her use of intersecting multiple geometric shapes and materials together to construct harmonious pieces of furniture is a constant reminder to stretch the boundaries when considering what materials you can mix and match.

→ inspiring individuals ← creative influences

Italian architect and furniture designer Mario Bellini crafts stunning furniture pieces that inspires what I consider to be the perfect balance of laid-back luxury. Pieces such as this Camaleonda sectional sofa excite me for the future of my own living room space.

Matthew McCormick, a Canadian lighting designer is an inspiration in the field of design not only for his lighting and artistic installations, but also for his leadership and managing capabilities on an executive level.

Through his kind spirited nature and his art direction, he has become a global leader in design, proving one's success does not limit one's ability to be kind and empower those around you.

Tadao Ando, a self-taught architect famous for using concrete to create impactful minimalist designs is an inspiration to me in the field of architecture. His stunning designs prove that minimalist designs have the power to create enormous impact.

Using nature and natural surroundings to create organic elements within the interior architecture of the home is breathtaking. Traditionally speaking, when viewing the facades of homes, many would not have thought of creating rounded wave like and organic shapes to construct ceilings, walls, and exterior facades. Antoni Gaudi is inspiring for creating timeless designs that break through the traditional hard shape geometric surfaces.
